NEW RAIL PEACE PLAN BEING PUT IN EFFECT

Over Half of Mileage is Covered By Willard-Jewell Agreement

SECRETARY DAVIS IS ADVISED WAGES ARE CONSIDERED TAKEN CARE OF IN THE PACT

Section 4 Interpreted As Meaning The Scale May Be Discussed.

CONCILIATOR EXPLAINS PEACE STATUS TO CHIEF

Shop Craft Representatives Replace Brotherhood Officials On Commission.

(By International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Sixty-five percent of the railroad mileage of the country is covered by the "Willard agreement," negotiated at Chicago, or is ready to sign, according to official advices reaching Secretary of Labor Davis today.

According to Secretary Davis, information, which came from Ostar F. Nelson, labor conciliator now at Chicago, the union men interpret section 4, dealing with the settlement of disputes, as meaning that "railroads signatory to the agreement will meet union representatives on the wage question" as well as all other matters growing out of the strike, the matters at issue being referred to the commission provided in that section.

Interpreting the development at Chicago, Mr. Nelson telegraphed Secretary Davis as follows: "Latest information is that 35 percent of the railroad mileage of the country is covered by the Willard agreement and 30 per cent more is ready to sign."

"The commission provided for by the agreement is composed of six shop craft representatives and not brotherhood officials, as originally provided for."

"Section 4 of the agreement is interpreted by the workers to mean that the railroads signatory to the agreement will meet union representatives on the wage question and all other matters growing out of the strike and, upon a failure to agree, the matter will be referred to the commission provided for in section 5 of the agreement."

SITUATION ALARMS WHOLE OF BRITAIN

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 14.—The eastern situation is causing considerable concern here.

This was reflected in the editorial columns of the morning papers, some of which adopt a distinctly alarmist tone. "A grave crisis confronts the powers," says one. Others declared "The situation is drifting to the danger point, all elements are present for another flare-up of war."

One sentiment dominating all is the fear that France may interpret the "legitimate aspirations" of the Turks in such a manner as to prevent the co-operation of Great Britain.

Hardwick Loses To C. M. Walker

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14.—Thomas W. Hardwick was defeated for re-nomination in the primary yesterday by Clifford M. Walker, former attorney general, on the face of incomplete returns from practically all counties, compiled by the Atlanta Constitution.

The figures gave Walker 113 counties, with 294 convention votes; Hardwick 41 counties, with 108 unit votes.

Here Are Peace Terms Accepted By Policy Committee And Roads Signed

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The terms of the railroad strike settlement reached today were as follows:

1. In order to bring an end to the existing strike of employees upon the railroads and relieve the country from the adverse effects thereof, and to expedite the movement of essential traffic, the following memorandum of agreement is made upon the understanding which the parties hereto accept, that the terms hereof shall be carried out by the officers of the companies and the representatives of the employees in a spirit of conciliation and sincere purpose to effect a genuine settlement of the matters in controversy referred to below. This paragraph does not apply to or include strikes in effect prior to July 1, 1922.

2. All men to return to work in positions of the class they originally held on June 30, 1922, and at the same point. As many of such men as possible are to be immediately put to work at present rates of pay, and all such employees who have been on strike be put to work or under pay "not" later than thirty days after the signing of this agreement, except such men as have been proven guilty of acts of violence which in the opinion of the commission hereinafter provided for, shall be sufficient cause for dismissal from service.

3. The relative standing as between themselves of men returning to work and men laid off, furloughed or on leave of absence, including general chairmen and others who were as of June 30, 1922, properly on leave of absence, will be restored as of June 30, 1922, and they will be called back to work in that order.

4. If a dispute arises as to the relative standing of an employee, or if any other controversy arises growing out of the strike that cannot be otherwise adjusted by the carrier and said employee, or by he duly authorized representative thereof, the matter shall be referred by the organizations parties to this agreement, the employees or the carrier in the interest of any employee who may be aggrieved, to a commission to be established and constituted as hereinafter provided, for final decision by a majority vote.

5. The commission referred to in paragraph four hereof shall be composed of six representatives to be named by the chief officers of the organizations parties hereto and six railroad officers or representatives selected from and by the railroads agreeing hereto. This commission shall be constituted within fifteen days from the signing of this agreement, and shall have jurisdiction to decide all cases that may properly be referred to it on or before May 31, 1923, but not thereafter.

6. Inasmuch as this agreement is reached for the purpose of composing in a spirit of compromise this controversy, all parties hereto agree that neither this settlement nor any decision of the commission above provided for, shall be used or cited in any controversy between these parties or between the railroads signing the same, or any other class or classes of their employe in any other controversy that may hereafter arise.

7. Both parties pledge themselves that "no" intimidation nor oppression shall be practiced or permitted against any of the employees who have remained at work or have taken service or as against those who resume work under this understanding.

8. All suits at law now pending as the result of the strike to be withdrawn and canceled by both parties.

EXPLOSION OCCURS ON PIG IRON CAR

Freight train No. 74, several cars of which piled up in wreckage on Flint bridge early last Saturday, today again was the center of interest here, as a result of an explosion on top of a car of pig iron attached to the train. The car was said to have come here from the Birmingham district. No one was hurt.

Soon after the train entered the local Louisville and Nashville yards, there was an explosion on the car, declared by military authorities who investigated, to have been dynamite. The charge was said to have been exploded with a fuse. Military headquarters announced the investigation of the explosion was being continued.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR TWIN CITIES TO BE CHOSEN SITE OF STATE LABORATORY

Physicians Make Every Effort To Get The Unit Located Here.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED AT ECHOLS BANQUET

Dr. Leon C. Havens Tells Doctors Of The Department's Plans.

Prospects for establishment in the Twin Cities of the Tennessee Valley branch of the state laboratory were considered exceptionally bright today, following a conference here last night between Dr. Leon C. Havens, director of laboratories, and members of the Morgan County Medical Society. After a business session of some length, the visitors and members of the Society were entertained at a banquet at the Echols when the doctors departed from the serious business of the evening long enough to enjoy the program arranged by the "stunt committee."

Dr. Havens would make no positive forecast of what the state officials are planning in connection with the establishment of the laboratory in North Alabama, but he told the physicians that it likely would be the policy of the health department to establish the unit only in a locality in which the permanency of the county health work was assured.

He also declared the department's purpose of placing the unit where it would do the most good and could be reached by the largest number of doctors. The latter statement was taken to mean that Twin Cities are looked upon favorably, inasmuch as they are in the center, geographically and almost numerically, of the Tennessee Valley tier of counties and are accessible over two railroads, as well as by water.

The physicians were very much impressed with the need of the laboratory here and passed several sets of resolutions in an effort to insure its being placed here. One of the resolutions guaranteed, so far as possible, the permanency of the health work in this county and another guaranteed floor space for the new unit.

JUDGE KYLE RETURNS.

Judge O. Kyle returned home on Wednesday afternoon from Moulton, where he has been holding court for the past two weeks. He was taken sick and Judge R. C. Brickell, of Huntsville, is completing the term. A very busy court was held by Judge Kyle, a big effort being made to clear the docket at this term of the court.

PETITION SEEKS EARLY ACTION ON FORD'S OFFER

(By International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A petition for action by the house on the offer of Henry Ford to lease Muscle Shoals was presented to the house today by Representative McKenzie, republican, of Illinois. The petition was signed by 200,000 residents and citizens of states bordering on the project, which is on the Tennessee river in Alabama.

McKenzie got consent to print the petition in The Record.

Son Murders Father

Rob B. Garvey shot and killed his father, J. W. Garvey, wealthy Kansas City lumber dealer, after the latter had discharged Mrs. Helen S. Groh, a young stenographer. Mrs. Groh, it is reported, has dropped out of sight, and efforts to locate her have been unavailing.

FEYERABEND HAS A FINE COLLECTION OF WORLD STAMPS

According to what is "asked" not what is actually "bid" Geo. O. Feyerabend, who lives on the shady side of Second avenue, could sell his world wide postage stamp collection for several hundred dollars. He has stamps from every country on earth with the exception of Afghanistan Asia. Mr. Feyerabend preserves his collection in a large Album and they number near 4,000. The oldest stamps are those of Great Britain and they date back to 1840. The newest stamps are from the new republic of Germany and some of them bear the inscription "Deutsches Reich" which means "The German Commonwealth". Most of these new coins bear imprinted groups of working people. A blacksmith in the act of striking down hard on iron, with two persons holding the iron is plainly visible on one of the stamps. Another such stamp shows an agricultural scene. "The German National Assembly" appears on one of these coins and Mr. Feyerabend said that stamp was used during the revolution following the defeat of the German armies in the World War.

A Woman Ploughing on French Coin
Most of the French coins in the album display women bearing flags, but at least one French postage stamp shows a woman plowing a team. A few of the coins bear the imprint of the face of Napoleon III, who was defeated in 1870 at Sedan, by armies under control of Bismark, the "Iron Chancellor" of Germany. No coins bear the picture of Napoleon the Great, and according to Mr. Feyerabend, France had no postage stamps in use at that time. An interesting modern stamp was one from Poland bearing the picture of Paderewski, the well known pianist, and late Premier of Poland. The Australian and Canadian stamps mostly bear the head of Queen Victoria. Quite naturally Mr. Feyerabend's largest collection is of United States Postage stamps. He has hundreds of them, many bearing the head of Washington—some of these are three cent stamps such as were put on ordinary letters, where two cent stamps are now used.

FIRST OF STRIKERS EXPECTED TO RETURN TO OLD JOBS ON ROADS SIGNING PACT BY END OF DAY; IS FORMALITY, SAYS FINLEY

Many Big Railroad Systems Are Included In List Of Lines Agreeing To Sign Agreement With Men

(International News Service)
Some of the great railroad systems reported to have agreed to the rail strike settlement are:

New York Central and all subsidiary lines, including the Michigan Central and Big Four, Southern railroad, Seaboard Air Line, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern and subsidiary roads, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

(By International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Before today has passed, the first of the striking rail workers on roads, which are included in the new peace agreement, will be back at work.

A number of the railroads were to sign the agreement today.

"It is but a mere formality," said W. H. Finley, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, "I will sign immediately and some of our men will be back at work a few hours after the signatures are placed on the dotted line."

Similar meetings were to be held in the offices of other roads affected. Within a day or two the shops of these roads will be running full blast. Orders were being prepared and the decks cleared for action to get the shopmen of the 62 roads who are already parties to the settlement back to work as quickly as possible.

The formal announcement of the settlement revealed, for the first time, that the vast New York Central lines, including all subsidiaries, were among the sponsors of the peace plan.

The men will return to work at the present rates of pay, as quickly as the agreements are signed. Each road will sign individually, but all will be the same agreement.

Under the terms of the agreement, all of the men will be back at work within 30 days or will be given full pay, even if not working.

They will receive all the pension and working privileges they held when they quit work. This, in effect, restores seniority rights, although the word seniority is not mentioned in the agreement.

All men now at work will be retained if they are competent and there will be no discrimination against them. All other matters will be settled by a committee of 12, six from each side, until May 1, 1923.

A few roads, such as the Pennsylvania, the Burlington and the Union Pacific, are expected to fight to the end, however. Settlements on these roads may never be affected. They claim to be making satisfactory progress with their new unions and to be steadily recruiting a new class of competent employees.

The general effect of the settlement, in the opinion of those in close touch with the situation:

1. To reopen to full capacity transcontinental shipping lines, especially those connecting large producing and consuming centers.

2. To give the shop craft unions funds through the return to work of 150,000 men to fight the roads not settling.

3. To create a split on the heretofore all-powerful railway executives.

4. To help in a general business boom through the reopening of shipping facilities.

Striking shopmen of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Northwestern, the only big western roads party to the peace agreement, held conferences today with the management concerning their return to work at once.

General Manager Walters, of the Northwestern, said: "We expect to confer with the men in order that we may know if their understanding of the settlement is the same as ours. We want no misunderstanding."

Other western roads not in the settlement seemed to take the attitude that "we are not interested."

Two more great rail systems were reported this afternoon to have opened negotiations to make peace with the striking shopmen.

They were the Illinois Central and the Erie railroads. It was believed that both would swing into line with the 62 roads already signing the Jewell-Willard settlement plan, and making ready to take the shopmen back.

Several other roads, it was predicted, would enter into negotiations within the next two days.

NEGOTIATIONS BEGIN

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Members of the shop crafts policy committee who yesterday approved the peace plans for ending the railway strike through separate agreements with individual roads, today began separate negotiations under the terms of the agreement.

Instructions to various system federation officials forward to begin negotiations and arrangements for agreement were sent from union headquarters.

JEWELL REPORTS

B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway crafts, today advised, by telegraph, a number of local officials on the status of the peace negotiations in Chicago.

Mr. Jewell's telegram to Ed Berry, secretary of the machinists, made public by E. G. Cherry, federated chairman, follows:

"Conference committee today agreed to accept a settlement on certain railroads of which you will be later fully advised. No men are to return to work on any railroad until properly authorized to do so by the officers of your system federation. Notify all outlying points."

NEEDLES DENIES

(By Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 14.—A. C. Needles, vice president of the Norfolk and Western, announced today that his road is not included in the group which agreed to separate settlements of the shopmen's strike.

BEGIN PARLEYS

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Leaders of the federated railway shop crafts today began negotiations for separate peace settlements of the shopmen's strike. It is announced that several roads, in addition to about 50 which previously had agreed to separate settlements, had telegraphed union headquarters indicating their willingness to start negotiations.

NEGOTIATE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Direct negotiations to end the strike on the Southern railway will be inaugurated at conferences here beginning Saturday.

UNION PLAN.

(By International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A charge of criminal conspiracy on the part of the railroads to break and destroy the federated shop-craft unions will be the defense in the hearing now proceeding before Federal Judge Wilkerson to make permanent the drastic injunction secured by the government against the rail strikers.

TURKEY WINS OVER GREECE

WHILE BIG NATIONS PLAY POLITICS.

Not many Americans are enamored with secret diplomacy. Some recent English diplomacy of the old line variety has just failed—their plan to back the Greeks to defeat the Turks. It is said that Italy and France picked the Turks to win, so all who delight to see our English cousins beaten once in a while are inclined to feel fine over their failure in the Near East. If it were not a fact that for the general good of the world the Turk ought not only to be beaten but destroyed utterly there would be more pleasure in the fact that England has failed to outgeneral the French and Italians. It is claimed that but for her desire to keep France from having a free hand in Asia Minor, England would have done business with the Turks and so prevented the present situation in the Near East. Great Britain is said to have counted on Constantinople, later called Tino, after his wife, to have beaten the Turks, an occurrence that would have checked the gains of the French in Asia Minor. If this had happened, England's position at Constantinople would have been strengthened. If Constantinople should lose his throne—and Greek soldiers are probably this moment marching through Athens, Greece (we have some important Athens in America) demanding the official head of their king, and the promotion of Venizelos, the English cause would seem absolutely lost in the Near East. It is claimed that neither France nor England has any abiding interest in Greece or Turkey, but that now, as in the long, disgraceful past, these so-called enlightened nations are engaged in the old secret game of diplomacy in order to establish their supremacy one above the other. We may expect any day a great noise from the British press demanding that Christendom is threatened with this recent success of the Turk and that France ought to be ashamed to allow such a state of affairs. But many will remember that about the time this country refused to assume a protectorate over the Armenians, that the English did not defend those ancient Christians against the unspeakable Turk. The demolition of the Turk should be accomplished, but we seem destined to wait a long time for that consummation as long as so-called Christian nations will not undertake the job and remain content to let it out to such men as the brother-in-law of the late madman of the world.

WHEN THE INDUSTRIAL SKIES ARE CLEAR.

When the industrial skies clear, and order is resumed again among the thousands of artisans of the factory and workshop the nation over, there is every reason to believe that there will be one of the greatest revivals of industry the country has seen since the high peak during the World war. Everything points that way. The harvests are bountiful, there are more people awaiting the opportunity of purchasing the products of the factory and farm than ever before, and the harvest is being gathered.

The coal mining industry which over a wide area has been idle for many months is now resuming, and fuel for the factory and workshop and the iron horses of the country which haul the products from one section of the country to another is assured, making it possible to resume on a scale commensurate with the vast array of products awaiting transportation.

These are but indexes which point the way to a resumption of business the nation over on a scale which will set the wheels of industry humming, and when these move, all other interests feel the awakening power.

Let us hope that out of the maze of uncertainty which has hung like a great pall over so large a part of the country will soon begin to lift, and that the rainbow of promise may again soon be observed in the sky of industry of whatever character, and that together we may again begin the march on the citadel of prosperity, without one single disparaging sign to halt the movement on its way to the high peaks of prosperity in its truest sense.

In the fulfillment of these things we are sure every citizen feels a lively interest, and in feeling thus, must be impressed with the fact that each have a duty to perform to make it a certainty, and in feeling thus will bend every effort to make it a certainty.

POULTRY RAISING.

Much has been said about poultry raising, and much is still to be said. It is one subject which it seems cannot be exhausted, and the one article which cannot produce a surplus. There is a splendid demand all the while, it matters not how many engage in it, and it has been said that it is equal to the cotton crop in value.

The markets for poultry and poultry products is as wide as the nation itself. There are branch markets at every cross roads in the country, and it is a remote country indeed, that a wagon peddler fails to make each week, carrying with him merchandise which he exchanges with the country folk for chickens and eggs. They are legal tender anywhere.

How in contrast is this custom now with a few years ago in this county. It was possible sometimes to sell poultry and eggs, but invariably the seller was met with the remark: "We'll take them if you will trade it out." Then they were bought at so much per head. Now they sell by the pound. Today a poultry wagon will attract as much attention among the poultry buyers, as a wagon loaded with cotton does the cotton buyers. The bidding is spirited in many instances, and if one has a well balanced load of poultry and eggs, that one is assured of a fine price, sold to competent live buyers.

The time was in this county not so very many years ago, that eggs went begging at five cents per dozen, in trade, and could not be sold for cash at any price. At that time the markets of the country had not opened up for them. Now Morgan county eggs are shipped to New York city by the carload, and each week poultry cars, loaded to the limit leave for the same destination. These large shipments are the accumulated buying of resident dealers over the county, who sell to the agents of the larger concerns in the big cities.

The poultry and egg business in the county is not overdone by any means, and offers a field for a great endeavor on the part of rural and urban population as well.

THE NEWER METHODS.

New methods of doing things are not easily understood by those who learned to accomplish the same result by older methods. This is being forcibly demonstrated every day by those who have children in school, and are called upon by them to assist in some of the problems encountered by them in the books of today. We who learned the same problems by other methods insist on applying the same rules which we learned to arrive at the solution of the problem in hand. It won't go in the present rules being carried forward in the schools of today. There are newer and shorter methods which the youngsters have learned and are learning, which accomplish the results with less work and a shorter route in determining the answer.

Therein lies the progress which those who are now in school have over those who attended the schools of the past. There has been great strides made. Those who apply themselves in the school room of today, have a great advantage over those who were students in the past, for they can arrive at the same conclusions in less time with more modern methods, thus shortening the time of work, and accomplishing more in a given time. Along with other great things of value, educational methods have kept pace, and are meeting the demands of a modern age where science and invention have played a most prominent part.

THE PRIMARY SYSTEM'S NARROW ESCAPE.

As the conclusion of a somewhat lengthy and very readable article on the recent democratic convention at Montgomery, Walter H. Wilson, news editor of the Opelika News, says:

"Confusion as to the results of the convention: A few hot air artists had the opportunity to pop off—that is all."

That, we think, is a very good conclusion, but there were some possibilities in that convention which, if they had materialized, would have changed Alabama's system of choosing her officials.

There is an element in Alabama, and especially in it strong in the black belt, which never has become entirely reconciled to the primary system. It longs for the old days of the convention. It long has planned how to bring them back. It believed it saw the opportunity this year.

The first step was to have a convention called to write a party platform. The next step was to provide that appellate court judges should be chosen by conventions. But, fearing that this measure might not be just the one to form an opening wedge, a measure was introduced providing that election of delegates to the democratic national convention should be elected by a convention. Had this measure been successful, then it would have paved the way for the convention system for naming appellate court judges. And had the latter been put in effect, we might expect, in a year or so, to have an attempt made to extend the convention system to the selection of all state officials.

The first part of the plan almost succeeded, as it was by the very narrow margin of one vote that defeat was administered to the proposal for selecting national convention delegates in a state convention. Thereafter, the delegates saw through the plan of the convention advocates and the primary system was saved. As for the rest, "a few hot air artists had the opportunity to pop off."—Gadsden Journal.

No just estimate of its real worth has ever been put upon the word encouragement. How often has an encouraging letter caused the fires of a laudable ambition to be re-kindled, and with them burning again, a life has been able to go on and upward. This is the season when thousands of young men and women are away from home attending school. It is well to write them encouraging letters. Young life needs encouragement; needs commendation; needs to be told they are appreciated, and if this is withheld, sad results may follow.

In fact, all of whatever age or station need and appreciate a word of encouragement. We never get too old but that it is pleasant to hear, and helps wonderfully as the days go by.

From all over the country it is noticed that the merchants of the different sections of the country are going to the larger markets of the country replenishing their stocks of goods, getting ready for the generous business of the fall and winter which seems assured.

Business men as a rule can sense the trend of affairs from a business standpoint, and the fact that many of them are buying largely with a view to business later, is a good omen.

It is impossible to sell the goods unless one has them in stock, but one must have some idea of what business will be in the future before they are willing to make great outlays in the buying line. That they are now willing to make these purchases, indicates that they have confidence in the future, and this confidence is predicated on a good line of reasoning.

KEEP SMILING

Have you ever noticed in this neck of woods

The time it takes to deliver the goods,
When a fat slovenly woman with slovenly dress

Is holding the bottle? A minute or less,

Is plenty of time for the milkman to do

His job of delivering the milk, and he's through,

The next, it will take twenty minutes or more.

When a beautiful woman steps out of the door,

With a nod and a smile; she's ready to chat

While he is polite, and raises his hat.

The moral is this; You can bet our last dime,

The beauty with the smile will win every time.

The attorney had talked for over an hour. He noticed what seemed to him inattention on the part of the court. It was as he had feared—his worship was unable to appreciate the points of his argument.

"I beg your worship's pardon," he said, "but do you follow me?"

The magistrate shifted uneasily in his chair.

"I have so far," he answered, "but if I thought I could find my way back alone, I'd turn around now."

WHAT I SAW

A girl in a cafe smiled and cracked the enamel on her face.

A flapper was caught in a rain and had the scenery washed off.

A PROPHET EMBARRASSED

Once upon a time, recently, Prophet Saxton sat down in a street car, beside a pudgy little man of five years. Sax has kids of his own, so it was natural that he struck up an immediate speaking acquaintance with the little chap. The kid had rompers, short ones, and likewise short stockings.

Sax gave one of the little legs a bit of a pinch. "Who has got nice fat legs?" he asked.

"My mamma," replied the kid. And Sax beat it.

When girls roll 'em down and go around bare kneed these hot days, it is in order to have their shins cleaned with soap and water so as to pass the rigid inspection of the rubber necks.

LABELED

In an art gallery two women were standing in front of Millet's famous picture, "The Sower."

"I wonder what kind of grain he is sowing?" said one woman.

"Why, millet, of course," replied her companion. "Don't you see the name in the corner?"

An "assistant" is the man who does all the work.

Some men we know ought to wear tail lights so those in a hurry won't bump into them.

If the workers in the pajama factories strike, there will be no new show on Broadway next year.

Don't jaw back unless you want the other fellow to think you are as big a fool as he is.

EDITOR THE DAILY:

To the public generally. Next week is school week in Albany schools, and on account of unemployment of so many it has occurred that many little children will be unable to enter. First, because of books. Second because of being unable to meet the tuition expenses. I feel confident that there is little real reason for this in a community like ours if every one will lend his or her co-operation. Now let's everybody resolve to forgive one another. Let's make a collection of all surplus books around the homes of all of us, and to this a little cash

OFFICIAL CALL IS ISSUED FOR STATE W. C. T. U. MEETING

The official call for the Alabama division of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been issued by Mrs. Mary T. Jeffries, President, of Birmingham, Ala.

The convention is to be held in the Central Methodist church of Albany, and will begin October 17th and continue three days. Local committees have begun active work, and expect to have full arrangements made and announcements made of the entire program in about a week. In writing of the coming convention Mrs. Jeffries says: "Our friends at Albany are actively preparing for our coming and every thing points to a large and inspiring meeting. I feel sure that all who were present at the convention at Tuscaloosa last year will want to go to Albany, and I am hoping there will be many more. The official call of Mrs. Jeffries is as follows:

"The thirty-seventh annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the State of Alabama will be held in Albany, Ala., October 17, 18, 19, inclusive. The convention is composed of the general officers, State superintendents, branch secretaries, county presidents, the officers of local unions and one delegate for every ten paying and one delegate at large.

No union will be allowed representation in the convention whose dues are not paid.

The annual meeting belongs to the membership, and we especially urge that every local union make it possible for at least two of its members to attend the convention.

The local committee will provide entertainment for all delegates. Kindly notify the chairman of this committee in ample time for your assignments to be made. A helpful and enjoyable program is being prepared by the State officers.

"It is the annual meeting when we hear what has been accomplished during the year and when we plan for the future." It is at the convention that we receive inspiration for continued service.

The local union owes it to its leaders to make it possible to attend the annual convention.

The list of the committees is published elsewhere.

Dr. Valeria H. Parker, director of Social Morality, and Mrs. Maud S. Perkins, director of the Y Branch, National W. C. T. U. will be among our speakers of the convention. Something pleasing will be prepared for the young people.

Albany is on the main line of the L. & N. railroad, one of our most attractive young cities, and we will find it a charming place to visit, aside from the attractions of the convention.

We ask all members and unions in the State to make the convention a special subject of prayer, that God may greatly bless and honor the work.

Affectionately yours,
MARY T. JEFFRIES, President.
HELEN T. RENFROE, Rec. Sec'y.

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girl took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial." —STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Opera supports her out of his own earnings, raining certainly does develop one's voice. The other afternoon, the most terrible screams I ever heard suddenly penetrated my office walls, evidently coming from the street level floors below. For at least four minutes, a woman screamed, with agony, terror and everything else blood-curdling in her voice. To me, it meant only one thing: some poor mother was seeing her child crushed beneath the wheels of a motor truck. Every window in the neighboring buildings were brown open and office workers leaned out while crowds came running from Fifth Avenue. But no child had been injured, no one's bones had been broken. A former musical comedy singer had just discovered her husband whom she had been seeking for six years in order to get the alimony due her! It seems she was standing in the entrance to our building when she saw him pass by. The screams followed. Albert Gallatin Wheeler, the husband in question, said that he never was so glad to see a policeman as he was the one who arrived first and calmed the screams.

And they say that motion pictures do not tend to elevate! What about his? A month ago, Morris Kohn was raided by burglars and all of his private stock of pre-prohibition liquor stolen. The other day, he found almost all of it stacked on his front porch and the following note tied to the package: "Here's some of your booze back. Since we took it we got to thinking you might get sick and not have any, and guys die from being cut off sudden. If we hadn't seen a movie on Fourteenth street today, where a guy almost croaks for want of a drink, you would not be getting this note or the stuff. We'll meet again some day. Yours truly."

I wonder if our rock-ribbed Manhattan Island might crumble to pieces from the rough treatment we are giving it. Geological experts are telling us that the sudden bursting of water mains and collapse of building walls which have occurred here recently may be due to powerful blasts a mile away from the spot. The island's made up of rock strata which runs the entire length of the city. A blast set off at any point on one of these may be felt some distance away powerfully enough to do the damage. One of the widest of these strata, according to geological authorities, runs diagonally across the city with its center near Columbus Circle. The most extensive excavations in operation on the island right now are those of the Commonwealth Hotel, just below the Circle and the fact that they have been felt at Madison avenue and Forty-second street tends to substantiate this theory. A group of geologists will use this district as a basis for investigation in order to decide what methods would best protect the city from blasting shock.

It seems like a pretty safe world, after all. Two of the passengers on the Homeric when it landed here the other day, were Raymond Knight, aged seven, and his sister, Phyllis, nine, who crossed all alone in the steerage after a visit to their parents' families in England. The children announce a fine voyage and no loneliness.

"A Fantastic Fricasee" is the initial attraction of the new season at the Greenwich Village Theater. Miss Dorothy Smoller and Bobby Edwards are prominent in the revue, which is a clever, picturesque sort of production, with more than usually good music and dancing and really remarkable color and scenic effects.

The case of the poor man who marries a wealthy girl and proudly supports her out of his own earnings, has been reversed. When Warren A. Kipp, Jr., son of the General Manager of the National Sugar Refining Company at Yonkers, eloped with eighteen year-old Dorothy Bulleyment, his family disinherited him, or at least cut off his present allowance. Now it is essential to him to have some sort of income because he is finishing his course at Columbia University. So the young wife has secured a job as a cloak model and is helping him to complete his education while he is trying to find something to do outside of college hours.

IN THE DAYS OF BUFFALO BILL IS FAITHFUL HISTORICAL NARRATIVE

The extensive growth of the motion picture business in advance of all other American industries is proven beyond any doubt in the Universal chapter play, "In the Days of Buffalo Bill," which opens at the Star theater Friday, one day only and delite Saturday, one day only.

Months were spent in extensive research in securing accurate data and equipment for each of the eighteen chapters. As is true of all great periods of history, historians differ widely in their accounts of famous events and it was difficult in preparing the script for production to know exactly which accounts to choose. Robert Dillon, who wrote the story and continuity from history, perused every text book on history in the library and with the assistance of professional research workers succeeded in getting in his script the real events as they actually happened.

The next step was choosing the players to re-live the famous events and the recording of their efforts by the camera. Each character was selected with the strictest attention to his or her physical likeness to the personage he or she was to represent. Incidentally Edward Laemmle, the director, was fortunate in securing the services of certain actors who were qualified for their roles for other reasons as well. Joseph Hazleton, seen in the role of Gideon Wells, secretary of the Navy in Lincoln's cabinet, was a program boy in Ford's theater the night of the assassination. Duke Lee, playing the part of Buffalo Bill, was a rider and roper with the scout for seven years. Chief Lighthart, playing the role of Sitting Bull, is a full blooded Cherokee Indian.

Museums all over the country did their bit in order that accuracy and realism might be maintained throughout the film. Throughout the greatest attention was paid to historical accuracy in order that the chapter play might prove a real help to teachers and students as well as serving as an exceptionally interesting and thrilling entertainment for adults.

COTTON MARKET

(By International News Service.) NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The cotton market was unsettled at the opening today. Because of firm cables and some buying by Liverpool with a little trade demand, the start was seven to 18 points higher, but offerings were liberal, mainly from the South and Wall street, and the list later eased to last night's close.

Conservationists Will Ask Solons To Provide More Game Protective Laws

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily) MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 14.—Conservationists of Alabama will ask the legislature at its regular session next year to provide further protection for the wild life and fish of the state by strengthening the present laws. They will propose heavier fines for those who disregard the laws, the establishment of fish cultural stations at a cost of $25,000, the prohibition of bass and trout fishing during the spawning season from April 15 to June 1, the placing of game and fish wardens on salaries instead of fees, the elimination of county hunters' licenses and the assessment of a license of $2 against every person in Alabama who desires to hunt. Licenses of non-residents would be increased from $15 to $25. These decisions were reached on Wednesday afternoon at the statewide conference of sportsmen and conservationists who met at the capital at the invitation of I. T. Quinn, state commissioner of conservation. The recommendations of the conference will be drafted into proper form and will be offered to the legislature shortly after the quadrennial session is held.

One of the most important decisions of the conference was to urge the legislature to strengthen the section of the game and fish law which prohibits the use of poison, dynamite and other deleterious substances in the taking of fish. If the recommendation is accepted every person who takes fish by this method will be subject to a fine of from $50 to $200 one-half of which would be paid to the person who furnishes the information sufficient to bring a conviction.

Another important suggestion was that the fee system now in use in the conservation department be abolished. At present game and fish wardens are paid a certain amount for each case while special agents are paid $4 a day. The conference recommended that employees of the conservation department be placed on a salary basis.

The conferees will urge the abolition of the county license of $1 and the substitution of a general license of $2 for all persons who live in Alabama and desire to hunt in the state. It has been found that hunters holding county licenses often go into other counties. The new method would eliminate both the county license of $1 and the state license of $2, establishing a general license of $2.

The conference began during the afternoon and continued until late in the evening. Matt Mahorner, Jr., of Mobile, was elected chairman by the unanimous vote of the conference and J. H. McCollister, of Birmingham, was elected secretary by the same vote.

RESCUERS DRAWING NEAR THEIR GOAL

(By International News Service.) JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 14.—Human brawn was close to triumph today over obstacles and all Jackson waited tensely to see whether the race with death to save the 47 men entrapped 48,000 feet below the surface of the earth in the Argonaut gold mine here will be successful.

Experts arriving to supervise the final work of rescue reiterated their belief the men are alive.

H. M. Wolfen, state superintendent of safety, in a statement today, said all depended upon whether the men had been able to barricade themselves from the gases the day of the accident.

Following the two weeks of court at the above place, similar terms will be held at Decatur until the docket is cleared, it is stated by the presiding judge.

PUT IN PREFERRED CLASS.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 14.—(Special).—Fruits, vegetables, crates and crate-building materials were listed among the preferred classes for the furnishing of railroad cars by the public service commission today. Satsuma oranges are beginning to move from South Alabama and the commission placed these classes in the list of preferences in order that cars may be provided to meet the needs of fruit growers.

MANY REQUESTS.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 14.—(Special).—Many requests for birth certificates are being received by the state bureau of vital statistics following the decision of the Birmingham bureau of education requiring all children between the ages of 6 and 20 to file certificates showing their birth dates. In many instances the bureau is able to furnish all the information needed but in many cases no records are available due to the fact that no system for the correlation of this information was maintained until a few years ago.

Island Has Remarkable Properties.

The island of Crete has undergone a remarkable tilting since classical times, rising at its western end and sinking at its eastern. A harbor at the west end of the island is now high and dry, so that one can walk about its floor, while the ancient quays and harbors works at the eastern end are now under water.

To Stop Mine Fires.

A new method of checking fire in mines is by means of boxes of fine rock dust suspended across the roof of the tunnel. Any shock due to an explosion is sufficient to cause them to break away from their supports, and the finely divided dust falls into the passage and prevents the flames from spreading.

If He Did.
 "On the Pacific coast," said the traveler, "we go out in boats, and nothing less than a 100-pound fish is considered sport." "Scuse me," said the colored man. "Yo' say yo' fish 100-pound fish?" "Why, certainly we do." "Ain't yo' skeered yo' might catch one?"

MRS. HARDING YET IS FAR FROM WELL

(By International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—It will be weeks, if not months, before Mrs. Warren G. Harding completely recovers from the disease that carried her nearly to death's door, her physicians said today in reporting a continuation of steady improvement in her condition.

So marked is the improvement in her condition that the physicians today discontinued the issuance of the regular twice a day bulletins, but in so doing they said this action could not be interpreted as meaning that all danger has passed.

From now on it will be a slow, tedious fight for complete recovery. In all events, the physicians said, it will be weeks or months before Mrs. Harding is able to resume her position of social activity.
